

Insight. Motivation. Empowerment.

Commerce

Compassion

Connect

Coping

Lockdown and the Four Pillars of Achievement

On January 23rd 2020, officials in China introduced a lockdown for the 11 million people living in the city of Wuhan. This lockdown meant that people were barred from going to work in factories and all roads and public transport were shut down as the coronavirus spread.

Since then, other countries around the world have introduced their own version of a lockdown with the aim of slowing the spread of Covid19. The UK started its own version on March 24th.

It started gradually for us - on March 16th, people were told to avoid all non-essential contact and social distancing was introduced. On March 20th, all gyms, bars, pubs, cafes and restaurants were closed, and by Monday 23rd March, all schools and childcare facilities, except for the children of key workers, were closed.

The measures introduced are unprecedented in peacetime UK and have already created a huge shift in how people behave.

We wanted to share with you an experience of how a business coped with this quick succession of events and how they have dealt with the first three weeks of lockdown.

Anna Powis
HR Director

MSI Group are a Healthcare Recruitment organisation, specialising in NHS placements - is responsible for looking after the 130 employees and she shares her experience in this video, of how she supported the Four Pillars of Achievement in helping staff to work from home successfully.

Talk to Us

Home
Who are We
Talk to Us
Privacy & GDPR
Copyright MSB 2020