Using information from Companies House, in partnership with Jordans, the Hot 100 is based on turnover and profit growth (in particular, the compound growth rates over a four-year period) and definitively reveals which are the UK's fastest growing private companies and fastest growing UK retailers.

To make this exhaustive list showcasing enterprise growth, each had to achieve sales of more than £10m and EBITDA of more than £1m, be in the private sphere and actively trading. All accounts has to be filed in the past two years, and a credit rating available. Charities, investment firms and property developers were not eligible for the list.

Once the final Hot 100 2016 list was compiled, the Real Business team then created a profile for each individual company, detailing the most recent turnover, EBITDA figures, location, boss and other key information.

So peruse the list – from manufacturers to technology innovators and service providers across an extremely diverse range of industries, you'll see that our 100 fastest growing private companies are each bringing something unique to the table.
